KEY ORGANIZATION INFORMATION & MANAGEMENT

Training Centre in Communication (T.C.C) is the first African-based training center with an aim to increase capacity for research output by training scientist on effective communication tools. T.C.C is in partnership with the University of Nairobi, through a direct link with the School of Biological Sciences (SBS).

SCHOLARLY COMMUNICATION

In today’s competitive academic environment scientists need to know how to effectively communicate with their peers; beginning with coming up with a research idea, writing the proposal to communicating it. Beyond this, researchers need to understand the academic landscape and the research lifecycle process and how it can make them competitive.

SCIENCE COMMUNICATION

We support published researchers, on how to translate their published work for various audiences. This is done through interactive workshops, where we bring science media partners, and science communication specialists and guide scientists how they can effectively communicate with different publics.

MANAGEMENT

TCC’s Founding Director, Prof. Gabor Lovei is based at Aarhus University (Denmark), Department of Integrated Pest Management, where he does research in ecology, and teaches ecology and scientific communication and regularly teaches on TCC courses.

TCC’s Co-Founding Non-Executive Director is Ms. Joy Owango

TCC day-to-day operation is coordinated by TCC Programme Manager Mr. Harrison Weda.

TCC is supported by an Advisory Committee, composed of respected academics in East Africa and Europe. The role of the committee is to support guide and periodically evaluate the activity of the Centre.
TRAINING ACTIVITIES

ONLINE TRAINING

As part of Training Centre in Communication’s strategy, during the second quarter of the year 2020, TCC implemented immersion into online training.

Its framework of interaction with participants included use of online meeting platforms such as Zoom Meetings and Facebook Live to broadcast the training sessions facilitated by professionals from the academia community and partnered institutions, sharing of training recordings and PDF’s to maximize the learning process and sharing E-Resources to the TCC Community to create a successful online learning environment that allows idea sharing from people connected from all over the world.

This developments are key in supporting more researchers and academics on how they can improve their output and visibility in line with our objective to train, support and empower the academic community.

VISIBILITY STRATEGIES

As per its 2020 visibility and brand awareness strategy a new course focused on guiding science journalist on Grants Writing was introduced. It started as an idea and blossomed into an amazing workshop with participants from Eastern and Western Africa and were honored to have eminent journalists John-Allan Namu and Verah Vashti Okeyo as co-facilitators, who, shared insights and their experiences in grants writing and management of their science projects.

WEBINARS

TRANSITIONING TO ONLINE TEACHING IN HIGHER EDUCATION WEBINAR BY TRAINING CENTRE IN COMMUNICATION AND KNOWLEDGE E

TCC in partnership with Knowledge E hosted a free webinar titled: “Transitional to Online Teaching in Higher education: What to Avoid and How to avoid it” on 2nd April, 2020 with over ninety (90) educators participating from thirteen (13) African countries.

The webinar was designed to help higher education professors rapidly adjust to the new remote-learning environment demanded by the global Covid-19 pandemic.

Knowledge E’s eLearning expert, Caryn Anderson, delivered a 45 minute session with discussions ranging from; Methods for designing and assessing asynchronous conversations and student peer mentoring to keep students engaged and improve their performance, The concept of “grazing vs meals” (more frequent, regular, and brief interactions vs. single big presentations).

Over half the participants completed a survey after the webinar where;

95% said they gained one or more new insight
95% identified one or more practical things they planned to implement
98% mentioned one more useful thing they intended to share with their colleagues.

“The whole webinar was an eye-opener about the possible opportunities, the tips will go a long way in helping me to mount my first comprehensive class.” – Osir Otteng’
Senior lecturer at South Eastern University, Kenya

This free online webinar was the first of a series of webinars and customized, in depth Master Classes planned by Training Centre in Communication and Knowledge E as part of their new partnership.
TCC hosted an online training session on Producing High Impact and Credible Journals on 30th April 2020, delivered by Professor Jackson Too from the Commission for University Education (CUE), co-hosted by TCC Director, Ms. Joy Owango and featuring Dr. Raoul Kamadjeu from Pan African Medical Journal as the guest speaker. The webinar attracted over 400 registered participants from different organizations and fields across the academia community.

The contents of the webinar included:

- What does it take to have a journal indexed?
- What does it take to produce good quality journal?
- What are the international publication standards required to produce journals?
- What are the implications of Open Access/Science on increasing the visibility of high impact journals?
CREATING A STREAMLINED RESEARCH ECOSYSTEM IN UNIVERSITY CO- HOSTED BY ORCID AND EARIMA

The Training Centre in Communication in collaboration with ORCID and EARIMA (Eastern Africa Research & Innovation Management Association) hosted a webinar on 4, May 2020. The training was delivered by Nabil Aziz Ksibi from ORCID, co-hosted by TCC Director, Ms. Joy Owango with guest speakers Dr. Edwinus Lyaya from EARIMA and Mohammad Mostafa from Knowledge E.

The training had 240 registered participants and was live streamed via Zoom Meeting and on Facebook. The live stream was viewed over 320 times.

Presentations during the webinar mainly factored around ways in which researchers can increase their visibility, how they can connect with other researchers as well as how research institutes and universities monitor research outputs from their scientists and researchers.
WHAT DOES IT TAKE FOR A UNIVERSITY TO PRODUCE HIGH IMPACT JOURNALS?
WEBINAR BY TCC AND AJOL

Over 900 registered participants from 23 countries took part in the live streamed two part webinar series. The series was held via Zoom and a Facebook live stream which currently sits at 1190 cumulative views for both live stream sessions. The first webinar was held on 30th April, 2020 while the second part was held on May 27th 2020. 80% of the participants acknowledged that they did not know what it took to produce high impact journals and were keen on what would be done to improve their journals.

In both webinars, the guest speakers guided the audience on how they are supporting African Institutions in producing good quality journals.
STATE OF OPEN ACCESS IN AFRICA AND ITS IMPLICATION ON RESEARCHERS WEBINAR.

The webinar was a collaborative effort between the Training Centre in Africa, AAS Open Research, Hindawi Publishers and AfricArxiv.

The event was live streamed on June 3, 2020 to over 600 registered participants over Zoom and Facebook platforms with additional e-resources provided. The event live stream on Facebook gathered 1200 views and was shared within the platform over 27 times.

Guest speakers included Ms. Elizabeth Marincola – AAS Open Research, Dr. Osman Aldirdiri – AfricArxiv, Mr. Matt Hodgkinson – Hindawi Publishers.

SOCIAL IMPACT OF COVID 19 ON CHILDREN AND FAMILIES WEBINAR

The Training Centre in collaboration (TCC) with the University of Nairobi (UON), Gertrude’s Children’s Hospital and Nation Media Group (NMG) held a webinar on 9th July 2020 on the Social Impact of Covid-19 on Children and families.

The Panelist, drawn from different disciplines included Dr. Thomas Ngwiri a pediatrician, Ms. Vera Okeyo a journalist and Dr. Peter Akuon an engineering lecturer from UON.

The event attracted over 150 registered participants with the Facebook live stream rallying over 1300 views.

Through the discussion the panelist acknowledged the disruption on normal routine and consequently the exertions of mental health of children as well as a plethora of issues arising from child and maternal health issues.

The discussion was closed off by a discussion on the best solutions including finding home based solutions to keep children safe during this period.
RESEARCH CAPACITY SUPPORT SYSTEMS FOR PhD SCHOLARS IN AFRICA WEBINAR

The research capacity support systems for PhD scholars in Africa webinar was hosted by the Training Centre in Africa (TCC) on 31st July 2020. The panelist, Titi Ajayi from Doing a PhD in Africa and Andy Nobes from Author AID, led the discussion and shared their insights in supporting early career researchers in Africa.

The event was held over zoom and a Facebook Live stream which gathered over 10,000 views, 106 likes and positive comments.

There were 735 registered participants from 17 countries who took part in the webinar.
Webinar discussion highlights were centered on the questions:

- What research capacity support systems exist for PhD Scholars in Africa?
- Where can they get the latest funding information for their research?
- What networks are available to identify supervisors and collaborators?
- What support is available to improve their scholarly and science communication?
PEER REVIEW WEEK 20 AFRICA

RAPID AND OPEN PEER REVIEW: WHAT ARE THE NEW TECHNOLOGIES FOR RESEARCH QUALITY ASSESSMENT

As a contribution to Peer Review Week 2020, Training Centre in Communication (TCC Africa) and AfricArxiv (The free preprint service for African scientists) hosted a webinar to take a deep dive into new technological developments towards Rapid and Open Peer Review.

Peer Review Week is a yearly global event celebrating the essential role that Peer Review plays in maintaining scientific quality. The event brings together individuals, institutions, and organizations committed to sharing the central message that good peer review, whatever shape or form it might take, is critical to scholarly communications.

The event was broadcast via Facebook live stream.

Questions that were addressed during the webinar include:

- What are the new technologies for open and rapid peer review in academic publishing?
- How is open peer review improving quality assessment during COVID-19 research?
- What incentives exist for researchers to assess other researchers’ results?
- How can non-academic professionals engage in open peer review?

OPEN ACCESS WEEK (OCT 20, 22)

Training Centre in Communication in partnership with the Association of African Universities (AAU) co-hosted Open Access Week 2020, featuring speakers from AAU, The Botswana International University of Science and Technology and Digital Science. The two part series ran on October 20, 2020 and October 22, 2020 with over 200 participants on both occasions. The overall theme of this event was Open with Purpose: Taking Action to Build Structural Equity and Inclusion.

The first part of the series held on Oct 20th 2020 had its focus on the theme; Building Infrastructure and advocating openness and the second, held on 22nd 2020 on; Open Science Global North- South Partnerships: What exists for African Researchers.

The discussion highlights were:

- What kind of Global North- South partnerships and opportunities exist in promoting Open Science for African researchers?
- What is the Association of African Universities' role in supporting Open Science?
- What challenges do researchers face due to pay walls?
- Introducing Dimensions.ai an Open Access research discovery solution (comes complete with publications, funding and patent data, clinical trials and journals)

The discussions were held on zoom and broadcast over Facebook where the live stream video currently has over 1500 views and sparked conversation in the comment section.

CONSULTANCIES

Training Centre in Communication (TCC) was invited as technical advisors to guide the Government of Malawi, through the National Commission of Science and Technology on how to use Scientometrics to improve their research input and visibility. The technical assistance visit was organized by the Southern African Research & Innovation Management Association (SARIMA).

TCC guided the policymakers and higher education stakeholders on how open access data can support the academic and research community in Malawi. Open access from Dimensions was provided to support the research community.

The 25 participants were also guided on; how to apply big research data to their daily use either as a researcher, institute or a policy maker as well as decisions one needs to make in creating collaborations.
TCC Director Ms. Joy Owango giving a talk at the SARIMA conference during a session.
DAAD (GERMAN ACADEMIC EXCHANGE SERVICE) KENYA, RESEARCH CAPACITY PARTNERSHIP MEETING

TCC’s Non-Executive Director Ms. Joy Owango as well as the Programme Manager, Mr. Harrison Weda attended a partnership meeting with various members of DAAD Kenya including the current Regional Director for Africa, Beate Schindler-Kovats. For the past three years, the Training Centre in Communication has been supporting DAAD early career researchers in improving their research output and visibility. The researchers have been supported through training and mentorship in various courses offered at TCC, a collaboration that TCC looks forward to developing.

STRATHMORE UNIVERSITY LEADERSHIP

Representatives from the Training Centre in Communication (TCC) including the Non-Executive Director Ms. Joy Owango, met with Strathmore University leadership to share insights on how they can improve research output and visibility through the partnership. The session had 15 participants.

TCC has been in partnership with the University since 2015 and seen it through its growth in research output and visibility strategies.

Ms. Joy Owango (TCC) and a participant from Strathmore University at the session
Training Centre in Communication (TCC) held a training session led by TCC Director Ms. Joy Owango on Wednesday, March 11, 2020. The session was attended by eighteen (18) University of Nairobi, B.Sc. Marketing students. The participants were guided on concepts and guidelines to understand writing of proposals, as well as approaches to draft and routines in grant management.
RESEARCH CAPACITY TRAINING AT MORENDAT INSTITUTE OF OIL & GAS (MIOG)

Training Centre in Communication held a research capacity training at the Morendat Institute of Oil and Gas on Monday, March 9, 2020 with eight (8) participants. The training was headed by TCC director, Ms. Joy Owango, who talked about activities in tertiary education and improving research outputs and visibility through building capacities in research.

OPEN ACCESS AND DISCOVERABILITY FOR AFRICAN MEDICAL RESEARCH

Training Centre in Communication (TCC Africa) together with Afric ArXiv co-hosted a workshop on 'Open Access and discoverability for African Medical Research ' on May 21, 2020.

The twenty five (25) registered participants of the training were researchers from the Infectious Diseases Institute, Uganda.
RESEARCH CAPACITY BUILDING AND PARTNERSHIP

TCC held discussions with members of the Zambia Ministry of Education, Government of Botswana and Uganda and the National Science and Technology Council on 23rd June 2020 in a collaborative effort to enhance research capacity.

UON LIBRARY OPEN DAY – INTRODUCING DIMENSIONS OPEN ACCESS DATA

On behalf of partners Digital Science, the Training Centre in Communication (TCC) shared with the University of Nairobi academic community on how open access citation database Dimensions on June 25, 2020. This is helpful as researchers can identify high impact journals to publish and research discovery. Librarians can also use the data for benchmarking and analytics. The event was facilitated to over 250 participants from the University of Nairobi academic community who had gathered for the Library Open Day.
FALLING WALLS LAB NAIROBI

20 shortlisted participants took part in the event where one of them will represent Kenya and compete against researchers from over 100 countries in Germany on 4th November. Participants, known as labsters are given the opportunity to present their research, business model, or initiative to peers and jury from multi-disciplinary areas across academia in three (3) minutes. The adjudicating judges present were not only active researchers but also active science communication specialist, guiding researchers on how to come up with startups in regard to their research Ideas. The event was hosted by Training Centre in Communication (TCC) and regulated by the National Commission for Science, Technology & Innovation (NACOSTI) the body that regulates and assures quality in the Science, Technology and Innovation sector.

The event was live streamed via Facebook and Zoom platforms and shared widely.

Falling Walls Lab is an international forum for the next generation of early career innovators, creators and visionaries. It aims at advancing and promoting exceptional ideas and connect promising scientists and entrepreneurs from all fields on a global level.

INTRODUCTION TO SCIENCE ENGAGEMENT WORKSHOP BY FALLING WALLS AND TRAINING CENTRE IN COMMUNICATION (TCC)

Training Centre in Communication (TCC) co-hosted an interactive one day workshop with Falling Walls Engage Hub Kenya on Monday, March 9, 2020. The workshop sought to highlight the responsibility for spreading scientific literacy and promoting the understanding for and belonging in science. This collective progress can only be achieved through an interdisciplinary and international collaboration across borders and cultural boundaries.

The workshop brought together twenty eight (28) interdisciplinary science engagers and communicators. The attendees were encouraged to explore individual opportunities for engagement.
